

The Ballad of SeeCam (aka the Sunshine Coast Symphony)

by Bruce Clark

“Come listen to a story ‘bout a canoe lover named Bruce

To paddle anywhere, he’d make up any excuse.

Wanting to paddle the Pacific, along Canadas west coast,

He was up a creek till Ted lent him a boat!

SeeCam, that is, the Toenail Clipper!

“Well the next thing you know Bruce needs is a crew -

‘cause Ceyana volunteers number only two.

Let’s wrangle up some friends, novice kayakers- what the heck!

By the way, they’re all gals - you don’t object?

Seven Females, that is, most named Cathy!

Sunshine Coast Trip is forming up just fine;

First practice on North Sask-, swimming is divine!

Packed, primed and loaded for the journey West

An unfortunate accident- we’re now one Kathy less!

Kathy Wright, that is- we were counting on her granola!

Just seven paddlers now Skukumchuk to Stanley Park,

Paddling the tides and currents- weather too- is no lark!

But I’m here to report that by the Pacific they could not be cowed,

Of SeeCam crew - Colene, Deborah, Heather and Kathy’s all- I’m very proud!”

Here’s to SeeCam- the Toenail Clipper Crew!
